

The moving image is the most powerful medium of our age. It entertains, informs and educates. It is an art form that reflects and explores our lives and our rapidly changing world. Vancouver's Pacific Cinémathèque, a not-for-profit cultural organization and registered charity, is the largest film institute of its kind in Western Canada and one of the most active in North America. For our patrons and students, Pacific Cinémathèque offers an experience that is stimulating, enlightening, and deeply rewarding, but the cost of that experience cannot be sustained by admission alone.
